RI TRANSPARENCY REPORT

2019

Lennox Capital Partners

About this report

The PRI Reporting Framework is a key step in the journey towards building a common language and industry standard for reporting responsible investment (RI) activities. This RI Transparency Report is one of the key outputs of this Framework. Its primary objective is to enable signatory transparency on RI activities and facilitate dialogue between investors and their clients, beneficiaries and other stakeholders. A copy of this report will be publicly disclosed for all reporting signatories on the PRI website, ensuring accountability of the PRI Initiative and its signatories.

This report is an export of the individual Signatory organisation's response to the PRI during the 2019 reporting cycle. It includes their responses to mandatory indicators, as well as responses to voluntary indicators the signatory has agreed to make public. The information is presented exactly as it was reported. Where an indicator offers a response option that is multiple-choice, all options that were available to the signatory to select are presented in this report. Presenting the information exactly as reported is a result of signatory feedback which suggested the PRI not summarise the information. As a result, the reports can be extensive. However, to help easily locate information, there is a Principles index which highlights where the information can be found and summarises the indicators that signatories complete and disclose.

Understanding the Principles Index

The Principles Index summarises the response status for the individual indicators and modules and shows how these relate to the six Principles for Responsible Investment. It can be used by stakeholders as an 'at-a-glance' summary of reported information and to identify particular themes or areas of interest.

Indicators can refer to one or more Principles. Some indicators are not specific to any Principle. These are highlighted in the 'General' column. When multiple Principles are covered across numerous indicators, in order to avoid repetition, only the main Principle covered is highlighted.

All indicators within a module are presented below. The status of indicators is shown with the following symbols:

Symbol	Status
✓	The signatory has completed all mandatory parts of this indicator
☑	The signatory has completed some parts of this indicator
🔒	This indicator was not relevant for this signatory
-	The signatory did not complete any part of this indicator
Ⓜ	The signatory has flagged this indicator for internal review

Within the table, indicators marked in blue are mandatory to complete. Indicators marked in grey are voluntary to complete.

Describe your organisation's investment principles and overall investment strategy, interpretation of fiduciary (or equivalent) duties, and how they consider ESG factors and real economy impact.

Lennox recognises that ESG encompasses a broad range of issues which may have material impact on the risk and return of our investments and is explicitly assessed as part of Lennox's investment decision-making process. All companies that Lennox considers for in-depth fundamental research must first pass a qualitative screening process that specifically measures and assesses a company's governance structure and the environmental and social consequences of its business. Lennox recognises that ESG issues will change over time so regularly examines the following issues:

- Environmental factors: Impact on local environment and risk management, carbon intensity and consequent exposure to carbon pricing, climate change, water supply and management, waste disposal, pollution and contamination, natural resource use and degradation, and energy use and renewal energy generation.
- Social factors: Corporate culture and conduct, occupational health and safety, human rights and child labour, workplace relations and working conditions, community impact and engagement, workplace diversity and supply chain management.
- Governance structure: Board independence and diversity, employee remuneration, bribery and corruption, shareholders' rights, conflicts of interest, corporate accountability and compliance.

Lennox believes a company's operations are unsustainable if they cause irreparable damage to the environment, workplace or end consumers, and will not knowingly invest in such companies.

SG 03.1	Indicate if your organisation has a policy on managing potential conflicts of interest in the investment process.
---------	---

Yes

SG 03.2	Describe your policy on managing potential conflicts of interest in the investment process.

- The Conflicts Register sets out those conflicts that are most likely to arise during the conduct of our business. All Staff are required to advise the Compliance Manager should they consider that a new conflict of interest has arisen. Upon review and consideration, the Conflicts Register will be updated as required. This includes a requirement that all Staff declare any outside directorships and business interests to the Compliance Manager, so that the Board can be informed and make an assessment of the likely impacts to our business, and how the conflict should be addressed.
- Whenever we are entering into arrangements with a new client, or any other party, the Board must consider, as part of the business proposal, whether any conflicts of interest may arise, and if so, how they are to be managed.
- Once identified, a conflict situation will be assessed by the Compliance Manager to determine its ability to significantly compromise the quality of the services provided to clients.
- Once the impact of a conflict situation has been assessed, an appropriate response must be developed and implemented, which may consist of avoiding the conflict or managing it through putting in place controls and/or by disclosing it.

SG 07.2

For the roles for which you have RI oversight/accountability or implementation responsibilities, indicate how you execute these responsibilities.

Lennox is made up of 3 employees - James Dougherty and Liam Donohue are the founders and portfolio managers in the business and Olivia Bible is the investment analyst. James and Liam are also majority owners of Lennox and are on the board of directors. At investment committee meetings where investment ideas are proposed and the qualitative screening process for a prospective investment is discussed, James and Liam are the only two employees that have a vote and the decision has to be unanimous. This process means that the person presenting the investment idea (whether it be the portfolio manager or the investment analyst) has to have a high degree of confidence that the investment decision passes ESG factors and then in order for the investment to go ahead, the two portfolio managers need to agree that the investment passes ESG factors.

	Description

Wrote an article "Successful small cap investing: part - it pays to invert" that went to various Australian financial publications. The most common misconception of active small cap investors is that the best way to improve returns is to focus all their time and effort on identifying stocks that will increase in value. Although this does provide strong returns, avoiding investment disasters produce similar returns. The article outlined how Lennox identifies those stocks that are most likely to lead to capital destruction and how this is incorporated in its investment process. Lennox evaluates management, environmental and social consequences, governance from the board and likely regulatory impact, earnings quality and industry dynamics.

Lennox recognises that ESG encompasses a broad range of issues which may have material impact on the risk and return of our investments. As such, Lennox believes that ESG considerations are integral to the investment decision process in order to manage investments for the long term. ESG is explicitly considered and assessed as part of Lennox's investment decision-making process.

All companies that Lennox considers for in-depth fundamental research must first pass a qualitative screening process that specifically measures and assesses a company's governance structure and the Environmental and Social consequences of its business.

Lennox recognises that ESG issues are not necessarily static and are likely to change over time. Lennox aims to integrate the following material ESG issues into its qualitative assessment of a company:

- Environmental factors: Impact on local environment and risk management, carbon intensity and consequent exposure to carbon pricing, climate change, water supply and management, waste disposal, pollution and contamination, natural resource use and degradation, and energy use and renewable energy generation.

- Social factors: Corporate culture and conduct, occupational health and safety, human rights and child labour, workplace relations and working conditions, community impact and engagement, workplace diversity and supply chain management.
- Governance structure: Board independence and diversity, employee remuneration, bribery and corruption, shareholder's rights, conflicts of interest, corporate accountability and compliance.

Lennox's investment focus is not confined to the short term financial performance of a company. We believe over the long term a company's operations are unsustainable if they cause irreparable damage to the environment, workplace or end consumers, and will not knowingly invest in such companies.

It is the responsibility for all Lennox employees to consider whether a company and the industry in which it operates passes the ESG qualitative screening before presenting the idea to the Investment Committee. At the Investment Committee meeting, ESG factors are discussed in detail and the portfolio managers have to unanimously agree that the prospective investment passes the ESG qualitative screening process before the investment is made.

(A) Implementation: Screening

LEI 04	Mandatory	Public	Descriptive	PRI 1
LEI 04.1	Indicate and describe the type of screening you apply to your internally managed active listed equities.

Type of screening

- Negative/exclusionary screening

Screened by

- Product
- Activity
- Sector
- Country/geographic region
- Environmental and social practices and performance
- Corporate governance

Description

Lennox screens prospective investments using an internally generated process. A company has to pass both the management and ESG screens in order to be considered investment grade and before the portfolio manager or investment analyst conducts financial analysis on the company. If a company is not considered investment grade, then Lennox will not invest in that company even if it looks compelling on a financial basis. Our management and ESG screens gathers information on the following questions:

Management:

1. Are management suitably experienced and skilled?
2. Do management understand their business and industry and can they articulate their strategy clearly?
3. Does the remuneration structure align senior management with minority shareholders?

ESG:

4. Is the business structure overly complex or opaque?

5. Does the business have materially negative environmental consequences that may result in regulatory change?
6. Does the business have materially negative social consequences that may result in regulatory change?
7. Is the board independent?
8. What is female representation on the board?
9. What is the experience of the board?
